Recovery

In recent years, there has been increased recognition that recovery can refer to a person’s improved capacity to lead a fulfilled life that is not dominated by illness and treatment. This is known as the “recovery approach” or “psychosocial rehabilitation”. In contrast to the medical approach, the recovery approach does not require people to experience reduced symptoms or the reduced need for medical and social care. It is more about experiencing the improved quality of life and higher levels of functioning despite the illness. Recovery in this sense does not mean that the illness has gone into complete remission. It means that over time, through what for many is a long and difficult process, individuals can come to terms with their illness by first learning to accept it and then moving beyond it. They can learn to believe in themselves as an individual by learning their strengths as well as their limitations and coming to realize that they do have the capacity to find purpose and enjoyment in their lives in spite of their illness. The successful recovery model sees individuals with mental illness as active participants in their own recovery process.

About Us
The National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) is the nation’s largest grassroots mental health organization dedicated to improving the lives of individuals and families affected by mental illnesses. These illnesses include major depression, schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, obsessive-compulsive disorder (OCD), panic disorder, post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and borderline personality disorder. NAMI is a non-profit organization with more than 950 affiliates in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. NAMI’s goal is to provide education, support, and advocacy to eliminate stigma and to offer hope for recovery and a fulfilling life.

Every year, regardless of race, age, religion or economic status, mental illness impacts the lives of nearly 60 million Americans. One quarter of all social security disability payments are for individuals with mental illness. Just as startling is the fact that in the United States, the economic impact of mental illnesses is estimated to be $80 billion annually.

The National Institute of Mental Health reports that one in four adults experiences a mental health disorder in a given year. One in 17 lives with a serious mental illness (SMI), such as major depression or schizophrenia, and one in 10 children has a serious mental or emotional disorder. Yet two-thirds go without treatment, mostly because of stigma and their inability to access care. However, up to 90% of people being treated for mental illnesses will recover unlike many other diseases such as heart disease and diabetes which have a much lower recovery rate. NAMI Southern Arizona offers an array of support and education programs for families and people with mental illness. For more information, contact us by calling (520) 622-5582 or visit www.namisa.org.

How Far we’ve come!
NAMIWalks is NAMI’s annual mental health awareness program, and our largest fund-raising and awareness campaign is “Changing Minds...One Step at a Time.” Nationwide the Walks are projected to raise over $12 million this year.

Launched in 2003 with 12 sites, NAMI “Walks” in more than 84 communities and has over 175,000 people participating each year. All walkers are encouraged to reach out to family, friends, co-workers and business associates for donations in support of their participation in the Walk. The NAMIWalks events are used to raise money and awareness to ensure NAMI’s vital programs and services are available at no charge to provide help and hope to those in need.

Lollie Butler-2015 Poet Laureate, NAMI Southern Arizona

HE FEASTS UPON THE SONGS HE PLAYS
-by Lollie Butler

I passed him standing by the store,
I'd seen his homeless type before,
He managed on the street, they said
But needed food, a decent bed,

He took a guitar from its case,
His dog stood wearily in place,
Gap-toothed and thin, his shirt was frayed,
He feasted on the songs he played.

In life, some fortunes are delayed
And luck is never overpaid,
I thought he'd earn a handsome wage,
Performing on a concert stage,

He strummed some old, familiar tunes,
Along his wrists, I saw the wounds,
In witnessing, I caught my breath
But who can reason love or death?

Or mental illness gone untraced,
I dropped some money in his case
And lingered listening until dark,
Then watched them wander toward the park.

Some shadows here may give us pause
And some neglect though they have cause.
Of those who manage meager ways,
He feasts upon the songs he plays.

THANK YOU 2015 SPONSORS!
Benefiting NAMI Southern Arizona
On behalf of the NAMI Southern Arizona Board of Directors, I would like to extend a huge THANK YOU to everyone who contributed to the success of the 2015 NAMI Walk! The Walk exceeded the targeted goal and that is due to the efforts of the dedicated staff of NAMI-SA and the army of volunteers who spent months in preparation and a long weekend (in pretty toasty temperatures) to organize all the moving parts of this big event.

Thanks also to everyone who participated in this year’s Walk—by organizing a Walk Team, by making a personal donation, by asking others for donations, and by coming out on Walk Day to enjoy the beautiful spring day with the enthusiastic crowd of Tucsonans who care about the work of NAMI-SA.

Education, support and advocacy on behalf of all those affected by mental illness—that’s what NAMI Southern Arizona provides for our community and the funds from the NAMI Walk help make it all possible. Thanks again!
